

WILL URGE KUHIO TO WORK FOR U.S. 'DRY' AMENDMENT

Hawaiian Association Prepares
Resolutions Asking Delegate to Work for Prohibition

Resolutions urging congress to provide for federal prohibition are to be handed to Delegate J. K. Kahananalo by the members of the Hawaiian Protective Association for presentation before the national lawmakers. It plans now being formulated by the organization materialize.

The resolutions are now being prepared by the association and will be handed to the delegate before he leaves for Washington, which probably will be shortly after the first of the year.

In addition to presenting the resolutions, the delegate will also be asked to work personally for prohibition. He having intimated to the members of the association that he is strongly in favor of the "bone-dry" movement. As he told the Star-Bulletin recently, he will fight for prohibition, if the people here desire him to.

Delegate Kuhio is the head of the Hawaiian Protective Association as its president, its object being to perpetuate the Hawaiian race to as great an extent as possible, to give to the Hawaiians such protection as they need in all matters, to preserve the best traditions of the race. Its membership includes many of Honolulu's best known Hawaiians. The prohibition movement was begun largely at the instance of Rev. Akaka Akana, a director, who is prominently associated with the Hawaiian Board of Missions.

DILLINGHAM MAKES ANSWER TO GOVERNOR

Denies That Dredging Company
Was Party to Any Arrangement Between U. S. and Territory

"The Hawaiian Dredging Co. was not a party to any arrangement made between the United States engineers and the territory regarding the dredging and out of the substructure of the old marine railway," declared Walter F. Dillingham this morning when he was asked if he had any statement to make in response to the charge made before the harbor commission yesterday that the territory had been "gouged" out of approximately $35,000 by the carrying out of a contract for this particular dredging.

Continuing he said: "Whether the United States engineers are giving the governor and the harbor board a square deal or whether or not the marine railway foundation should be excavated at the price contracted for sand and mud are matters of opinion."

"That the governor and the harbor board were forced to reconsider and make good their promise to the federal government by removing the marine railway foundation is a matter of fact."

Before concluding his statement with these remarks, Mr. Dillingham reviewed the negotiations leading up to the final dredging out of the marine railway structure. He said:

"If your account of the meeting of the harbor board held yesterday was correctly reported, I feel that the Star-Bulletin should have a word about the facts under the camouflage."

"Governor Pinkham promised the U. S. engineers several years ago that the territory would remove the marine railway foundations. Later, in 1910, Superintendent of Public Works Forbes asked the dredging company what it would cost to do the work. On Mr. Alex Lyle's history of what constituted the foundation we estimated and bid $10,000. Lord-Young secured the contract at about $30,000 and were later given an extra on the work of $900."

"The governor then announced to the U. S. engineers that the territory had done its part. The engineers attempted to force the dredging company to finish the job on the theory that the marine railway site was within the limits of our federal contract for digging sand and mud."

Says Governor Erred
"At the request of the engineering office we made a survey of the marine railway site, the result of which satisfied us that the governor in his statement to the engineer office, to the effect that the marine railway foundation had been removed, was in error."

"Thinking to save our governor from an embarrassing call from Washington, I took the data and placed it before Mr. Pinkham, explained the facts which had been developed and asked him what he wished me to do."

"He said: 'I can't keep track of all the details; give the records to Mr. Wheeler (Forbes' assistant), and I will see him.'"

"After a delay of two weeks, Mr. Wheeler said the governor and the harbor board refused to consider the matter."

"The particulars were then placed before the local U. S. engineer, in writing, by him forwarded to Washington, and in reply the following message was turned over to me by the U. S. engineer office in Honolulu, as coming from the chief of engineers in Washington:

"From the correspondence and statements, this office is convinced that neither the specifications nor the contract contemplate the removal by the Hawaiian Dredging Co., Ltd., of the substructure of the marine railway in Area F, covered by said contract."

"A later contract of ours covered the removal of the marine railway foundation. The deal was with the U. S. engineers. The arrangements between the federal government and the territory were not a party to. Whether the U. S. engineers are giving the governor and the harbor board a square deal or whether or not submarine foundations should be excavated at the price contracted for sand and mud are matters of opinion."

"That the governor and the harbor board were forced to reconsider and to make good their promise to the federal government by removing the marine railway foundation is a matter of fact."

In the meeting of the harbor board yesterday afternoon it was decided by vote to pay the sum demanded of the territory by the federal government, about $3500.

THIS IS A YARN A MILE LONG; SHE LOST IT KNITTING ON CAR

She was a nice old lady and of course very few noticed her on the street car because she was busy "doing her bit" knitting socks for soldiers and sailors. The Manoa street car bumped and clanged its way along. Just as the car started over Swanzy hill there was a scream. The conductor yanked the cord and the car stopped. A dozen passengers crowded solicitously about the old lady. She refused to answer their questions but clambered out of the car and looked down the back trail.

Far in the distance was a little ball of yarn, its string leading to the article which the old lady had been knitting. Evidently it had been a big ball of yarn when it fell from the old lady's lap and now it was strung over two blocks. But the conductor could not wait to have the yarn picked up, and the car clattered on, leaving the owner of the yarn to go back over the road and pick up the thread of her work.

DRAFT CLASSIFICATION TIME LIMIT EXTENDED

Authorization to postpone date for classification of registrants under the new selective draft law which requires the filling out of detailed questionnaires was received today in a cable from Washington by Capt. F. J. Green, draft officer.

No extension of the time for enlistments is to be granted from date of Dec. 15, however, according to the cable, which is from Maj.-Gen. E. H. Crowder. It had been hoped that enlistments in the Hawaiian department might still be taken if the draft classification time were extended.

On the mainland the classification work is now proceeding. It will not begin here until Jan. 1, and the actual filling out of the questionnaires is to begin Jan. 7. The cable said:

"Authority granted to defer Hawaiian classification date to January 1, but no enlistments are permitted after December 15."

The prayers were in particular for Nicholas Wagner, who went down with the destroyer Chauncey several weeks ago. He was a member of the congregation.

Practically all the congregation is of German extraction, and 120 members are in the United States service.

'JACK' ATKINSON JUDGE ADVOCATE

Capt. "Jack" Atkinson, quartermaster reserve corps, who was recently graduated from the training camp at Schofield Barracks, has been named judge advocate of a general court-martial ordered at that post. It is interesting to note that seven out of the eleven officers named to the court are from the reserve corps.

Capt. Atkinson has had a number of years' experience as a lawyer, which should qualify him as a valuable man on the Schofield board. He was one time deputy attorney general of the territory and at the time he entered the camp was with the firm of Thompson & Milverton.

Others named to the board are: Maj. William C. Russell, 32nd Infantry; Capt. Byard Sneed, 32nd Infantry; Capt. Ernest J. Carr, 25th Infantry; Capt. Orin H. Risley, Infantry, R. C.; Capt. Albert Keller, Infantry, R. C.; Capt. Frank L. Fowler, Infantry, R. C.; 1st Lieut. Hjalmer Jacobson, Infantry, R. C.; Temporary 2nd Lieut. William J. Matthias, 32nd Infantry; 2nd Lieut. Frank F. Beckman, Infantry, R. C.; 32nd Infantry; 1st Lieut. Powell Miracle, Infantry, R. C.; 25th Infantry.
